KAYAK EXPEDITION NOTES AND ITINERARY

For me, everyday life in the Arctic is filled with peaceful serenity, the magnificent grandeur of the scenery and an almost sacred atmosphere."

"Quiet days in the Arctic" by Magnus Elander

The Arctic summer, with 24 hours of daylight, provides paddlers with the best in remote and scenic kayaking. We offer two Spitsbergen sea kayak adventures in 2012, working in conjunction with Aurora Expeditions and based on our mother ship, the Polar Pioneer.

Our journey is a ship-based circumnavigation of Spitsbergen and its off-lying islands (dependent on ice conditions), taking us within 600 nautical miles of the North Pole. The official Norwegian name for this archipelago including Bear Island and Jan Mayen is Svalbard. With its population of 3500 in five settlements, Spitsbergen is still virtually a pristine wilderness. The east coast of Spitsbergen is influenced by a cold sea current from Siberia. The resulting lower temperatures mean that even in summer frequent pack ice can make access difficult. In contrast, the west coast is warmed by the Gulf Stream and can be reached by sea in summertime.

Due to the warming influence of the Gulf Stream, there is an amazing variety of flora. In addition to the typical tundra vegetation of mosses and lichens, there are also fungi, seven species of fern and 164 flowering plants that somehow survive in the great expanses of tundra. This polar wonderland is the breeding home for walrus, polar bear, reindeer and millions upon millions of migratory land and sea birds. Several whale species are found in the waters surrounding Spitsbergen. The land is a bewitching combination of towering mountains in the west and fossil-rich polar desert in the east. Almost everywhere we visit there is the chance of seeing polar bears, as Spitsbergen supports one of the world's densest populations of these magnificent animals.

These notes will give you a brief idea of what you may experience on this voyage. Our emphasis is on wildlife encounters, exploring the harsh and stunning environments, visiting remote communities and sites of historical interest. We stress that this is an expedition-style cruise, meaning our actual program will vary according to the weather we encounter, local opportunities and spontaneous wildlife viewing opportunities. No two voyages are the same; there is always an element of the unexpected.

We intend to use the ship as a comfortable floating base camp, paddling at every opportunity and returning for the comfort of meals and our cosy cabins. Zodiacs will be available for extended shore excursions for those who do not wish to paddle on any given day.

We hope to paddle one to two times a day, with most paddles ranging from two and a half to four hours. We aim to have at least one extended paddle where we will be away from the ship for most of the day and generally meet the ship at a different location. Landing ashore by kayak, we can stretch our legs and enjoy walks on the lush tundra among summer flowers. The flexibility of kayaking with a small private group ensures our own unique experiences, the quiet dip of your paddle perfectly suited to our awe-inspiring surroundings.

EXPERIENCE REQUIRED

Kayakers should be of an intermediate standard and have paddled before on outings up to 12 km in length. You do not have to be an expert or know how to roll but should have an adventurous spirit and recognise that the weather will influence greatly what we can and can't do. This is cold water kayaking and should not be your first paddling experience. For additional experience, rent a kayak before leaving home and seek out a local operator for some paddling tuition. We try to have our first familiarisation paddle start from shore and after that, launch directly from the ship. However, you should be comfortable on day one to paddle in some swell and wind if we encounter it.

DO practice paddling in a variety of conditions prior to the trip. Generally the water surface ranges from glassy calm to a small wind chop.

We'd be happy to talk to you about your level of experience and may be able to advise you on how to obtain the necessary skills before your trip.

Please Note: Along with your voyage booking form we require all participants to complete our "Sea Kayak Booking and Experience Form" and return it to us immediately to secure your spot in the sea kayak group.

ITINERARY

Day 1 – Embark Longyearbyen

After a night in Oslo, Norway, we transfer to the airport for the flight to Longyearbyen, Spitsbergen. We enjoy a tour of Longyearbyen before boarding the Polar Pioneer in the late afternoon. Cruising out of the beautiful Isfjorden, we'll be escorted by gliding fulmars and perhaps the occasional puffin. A favourite pastime on board is to stand at the stern watching for seabirds, including graceful ivory gulls, kittiwakes, little auks and guillemots. They will rise and fall skillfully, using the air currents created by the ship to gain momentum.

The sea kayakers will attend a briefing to distribute dry suits, pogies (paddling mitts for your hands), lifejackets and dry bags.

Days 2 - 3 – Northwest coast

We cruise northwards along the west coast of Spitsbergen, stopping at intriguing places like Kongsfjorden or Magdallenefjorden. We spend long periods kayaking along the coastline or walking on the lush tundra among the summer flowers. We experience local history at the 350-year-old remains of Dutch whaling settlements Smeerenberg (blubber town) on Amsterdamoya and the 100-year-old relics of the famous Swedish explorer Andree, who set out from Danskoya in an unsuccessful attempt to fly a balloon to the North Pole.

Days 4 - 6 – Northern flanks of Spitsbergen

As we work our way along the north coast we explore new places such as Woodfjorden and Leifdefjorden in search of the mighty polar bear. We enjoy magnificent views of sweeping glaciers winding their way into the sea, paddle amongst jostling ice floes, walk in the mountains among the reindeer, visit trapper huts of yesteryear - all the while remaining on the alert for wandering polar bears. We come face-to-face with the formidable pack ice of the Arctic Ocean and keep our eyes peeled for bobbing walrus feeding on clams or hauled out on the beach in wallows.

If ice conditions allow, we'll attempt to cross latitude 80 degrees North-a cause for celebration!

Days 7 - 10 – Along the east coast of Spitsbergen

Along the east coast of Spitsbergen we enter a different world - a polar desert. If ice conditions allow we will pass south through the narrow Hinlopen Strait. The strait is flanked by creamy coloured rock slabs, rich in fossils. We can discover these fossils for ourselves when we go ashore. We visit Alkafjellet where a series of one hundred metre high dolerite towers are home to millions of Brunnich's guillemots - the penguins of the north - that occupy every available nook and cranny. Elsewhere we seek out Eider ducks and geese and hope to spot Arctic fox and beautiful ivory gulls. As Polar Pioneer passes between Spitsbergen and the smaller Barentsoya and Edgeoya we cross the main polar bear migration routes and the beautiful fertile plain of Sundeneset. The spongy ground is richly covered with bright green mosses, a variety of delicate and colourful flowers, particularly the yellow marsh (bog) saxifrage, various mushrooms, clear bubbling streams and small tarns. We explore this beautiful terrain by kayak and on foot, marvelling at the contrast between the colourful soft ground and the barren, rocky terrain from further north. Reindeer antlers lie scattered along the ground. Ice permitting, we round South Cape, Spitsbergen's most southerly point, before continuing our journey northwards. Hornsund, 23km long and 8 -10 km wide, is the southernmost of the large fjords on Spitsbergen's west. Towers of rock pierce the clouds, lush green slopes run down to the sea and crumbling glaciers surround us. It is a beautiful place. Bellsund, which we may visit on the west coast of Spitsbergen, is divided into two large fjords. The northernmost - Van Mijenfjorden - is separated from the main fjord by a long narrow island, Akseloya, which extends almost across the fjord. There are many different paddling options available to us in this area.

Day 11 – Disembark Longyearbyen

During the early morning we cruise back into Isfjorden before docking in Longyearbyen. Transfer to the airport for the return flight to Oslo.
